Title:	Clustering on Small-scale Food Manufacturing Industry in West Jakarta: A Fuzzy Analytical Hierarchy Process Approach
Paper:	📄 (Feb 12, 09:54 GMT)
Author keywords:	small-scale industry food manufacturing clustering fuzzy AHP
Topics:
Abstract:	The small-scale food manufacturing industry has become the most dominant sector in Jakarta, in terms of number and manpower absorption. However, they are challenged with slow growth rates, indicated by their inability to meet national demands. The Government believes that the small-scale food manufacturing industry in Jakarta was formed without comprehensive planning, and yet, they are spread throughout Jakarta. This study aims to cluster the small-scale food manufacturing industry, which was focused on the West Jakarta area as a pilot project. By employing the Fuzzy Analytical Hierarchy Process (Fuzzy AHP), five criteria were considered during the assessment: availability of land, suppliers, facilities and infrastructure, labor, and markets. As a result, an area clustering map was proposed.

Dear Respected Author,

Related to the Malang city government plan to limit event and access to and from Malang city to prevent the spread of Corona virus, it has the potential to restrict access to and from the hotel where the ISIEM seminar is being held. This restriction is likely to be carried out from Wednesday, March 18, 2020 to the next 14 days.

Therefore, the committee decides to eliminate physical presentations and replace all presentations by sending video presentations in .mp4 format (max 10 minutes). The keynote presentation will also be recorded via video. All presentations will be uploaded on the web www.isiem.net.

Please send a video presentation before 30 March 2020, so that the paper can be sent to IOP immediately.

All other administrative matters will be announced immediately after the event.
Thank you for your cooperation
